Regional contacts

This section gives the following details for each of the nine English regions:

- the HEFCE-funded regional consortium – a single contact point for businesses and other organisations with higher education institutions in their region, and a focus for collaboration between institutions
- the government regional office
- the Regional Development Agency (RDA)
- a list of higher education institutions based in the region.

Further information on the pattern of higher education in each region is published in 'Regional profiles of higher education institutions' (HEFCE 2002/33), available from the HEFCE, price £30.

Higher education in further education colleges

The HEFCE is responsible for funding higher education courses taught in further education colleges (FECs). Some FECs are funded directly; others receive money indirectly through a franchise agreement with a higher education institution, or as part of a consortium. Contact details and links to further information on FECs providing HE courses are available through the HERO web-site, www.hero.ac.uk. The following list gives the 171 FECs that the HEFCE expects to fund directly in 2003-04.
